

Scott McGillivray's Reimagining the Bathroom

Introducing the first SCOTT MCGILLIVRAY COLLECTION Bathroom Vanity by Thomasville

January 30, 2018

Toronto, ON - Best known as a renovation and real estate expert from HGTV's Income Property and Moving the McGillivrays, Scott McGillivray is branching out into home furnishings. Scott has teamed up with Thomasville Cabinetry to create his first product in the Scott McGillivray Collection which launches this February at a special introductory price at Home Depot stores across Canada.

From his experience with 100's of renovations and real estate investments over the past 20 years, Scott knows a thing or two about style, quality, and return on investment. He has a passion for smart design solutions that make a home beautiful, combined with function, durability, and affordability.

Partnering with Thomasville was a natural fit. For over 100 years, Thomasville has been synonymous with beautifully crafted and well-made furnishings that allow homeowners to express themselves through their homes.

“A new vanity is an easy way to change the entire feel of your bathroom without breaking the bank”

As someone who has experience renovating, designing, renting, and selling houses, you know Scott will only release products for the home that have a balance of style and quality. Scott has lent his design expertise to the Collection to reflect his signature aesthetic of practical luxury – tailored, timeless style, crafted with quality materials.

“A new vanity is an easy way to change the entire feel of your bathroom without breaking the bank” recommends Scott. His first vanity, The Sterling in Stone Gray, is preassembled and comes with a coordinated mirror and counter with sink. It's a budget friendly remodelling solution sure to impress and an easy update for a bathroom or powder room to boost a home's value. The mix of open and closed storage provides both decorative and functional touches to ensure lots of space to help keep things organized.

With the Scott McGillivray Collection, Scott wanted to create thoughtfully designed products available at an affordable price to all home renovators and designers. Scott's goal is to simplify the decision process and reduce guesswork by helping consumers envision their finished space with pre-styled and curated looks that are as turn-key as possible and easy to purchase.

Not sure where to start? Keep an eye on Scott's social media and website for inspiring bathroom spaces designed around the Collection, accessorised to create a space with character – from modern farmhouse to relaxed elegance to hotel chic and more.
